New York State Announces Third REDC Funding Round

New York State has released guidelines and resources available for round 3 of its Regional Economic Development Council (REDC) initiative. Up to $760 million in economic development resources will be available to applicants through the 2013 process.

Just click on this site's "New York Works" link to view the 2013 Available CFA Resources Manual, which outlines the funds available from 29 state agency programs, and the 2013 REDC Guidebook, which provides the competitive guidelines for this year.

Garry L. VanGorder, executive director of the Cortland County Business Development Corporation and Industrial Development Agency, is a member of the Central New York REDC, appointed by Gov. Andrew Cuomo. County Legislature Chair Mike Park and Cortland City Mayor Brian Tobin are members of the council ex officio.

The CNYREDC has earned top awards in the first two years of the competition, bringing significant funding to a variety of projects across Cortland, Onondaga, Cayuga, Madison, and Oswego counties. Applications for funding open in June 17, with an application deadline set for August 12. Award recipients will be announced in late 2013.
